

Ok, welcome to commentary for Greek Family, so this is another one of those interesting "Dear Abby" letter, again quite short but has some good a good little phrases X and words like naive broke the camel's back are the straw that broke the camel's back , I'm and a it's but the basic topic is readily I intercultural dating or marriage or relationships right having a relationship with somebody from another culture maybe you guys have seen the movie my big fat Greek wedding effected it's a good movie it's funny, and it's about this topic this man, ah dates a woman who has a Greek family, and the Greek family doesn't like him because he's not Greek, right they have a very strong idea that she should only date their Greek people so it has a there's a big problem with her family. It's a comedy so It's not too serious but up, if you know the same basic idea so you know maybe some, uh view I don't know, what do you think about this idea of a you're dating people are having relation with people from other cultures certainly out tomorrow and I have this issue she sitting right here on the bed right now and we are sometimes I have difficulties because, uh var different cultures and languages, we have a language barrier I'm we communicate with each other in English because a I know very very very little Japanese hmm and I you her English is good cell that's how we communicate but if not her native language sometimes our she says something and she mean something but and I hear something else and something she doesn't mean and we have a miscommunication and that can cause problems somethings a sometimes we have big arguments I but really it's just a misunderstanding as as a language misunderstanding sometimes it might be a culture misunderstanding of course I Japanese culture and American culture are different we all know you know some other stereotypes pet am but you know there are little things and sometimes big things that are different and it can be hard for AST understand each other about those points so it a little bit are love extra difficulty when you date someone from another culture and expecially different languages are involved now on the other hand it's also an opportunity to learn and grow right you you learn about a lot of new things the other person has different ideas different views different a point of view on life from your own from your own culture and that can help you grow and learn more about the world in hopefully be more open and flexible and that's great and back that's one of the benefits also up just traveling in general or learning another language I you go beyond your own little small country and most diverse we grow uo and we're told that our contry's the best right and we know this is true and we're young. I'm all americans know that America is number one america's the best country in the world in fact a lot of americans believe that even adults I said probably most Americans believe that they think everything in the America is the best and other countries are not is good and anything where the best everything and everything we do is good and correct and this is not people get mad at united states because of this mainly becouse united states has a lot of power right now and we dont use that power very well however I've traveled to many countries and I can tell you that most Japanese people think Japan is nomber one and is the best culture and country in the world and most Thai poeple think Thailand is the best country in the world ...